ARE ALL EYES

DEFECTIVE?

Certain it is that many people experience no trouble with their eyes. Naturally a very large proportion of those who consult opticians or oculists have defective eyes, because the trouble they have leads them to the consultation.

There have been quite a number of people in to see me of late who have nothing at all the matter with their eyes.

If you have any doubt as to the condition of your eyes it will afford you a great deal of satisfaction to know positively. I shall be glad to tell you.

Opened Today.

The State Normal and Industrial College opened this morning under very favorable conditions, there being over four hundred students present. President McIver says this is by far the largest opening in the history of the college and is well pleased with the prospects for a successful year. The president and numbers of the faculty have been very busy today with the registration, class organization and preparations for regular class work, which will begin on Monday

Leg Broken.

John Barker, who resides on Davie street, met with a serious accident yesterday evening. He was out at his plantation, six miles northeast of town, and was engaged with some other men in putting a large log on a wagon. One of the skids slipped and one end of the log fell. As it fell it threw a hand spike against Mr. Barker's leg, just above the ankle, breaking both bones. Drs. Battle and Mebane set the broken limb and Mr. Barker is resting easy this afternoon. He was brought home last evening.

The Night Owls.

Fred Rider's Night Owl Burlesque Company of about 20 characters held down the boards at the Academy of Music last night. The performance was dull, without plot or decency, interspersed with stale jokes, poor specialties and all sorts of low obscenities. But the show has the merit of being about up to the average of its line.

A half house greeted the players.

Church Dedication.

On the fifth Sunday of October the dedication of the new Catholic church, St. Benedict's, will take place. There will be present five priests and Bishop Haid, of Belmont, N. C., who will preside. The celebration will last for two days—Sunday and Monday. It is expected that quite a number of people from Charlotte, Salisbury, Winston and Reidsville will be in attendance. The programme will be published in the Telegram next week.

FOUND IN THE ROAD.

Young Man Had Been Drinking--No Indication of Foul Play.

Wilkesboro, N. C., Oct. 4—At day break this morning Rufus Eller, aged 18, was found dead in the road near his home about 16 miles from here. There was no indication of foul play, and the supposition is that the young man, who had been drinking heavily, was overcome on his way home, and died of cold and exhaustion.

DEWEY HAD NO GRIEVANCE.

When Ordered to Asiatic Station, Where He Won an Admiral's Stars.

"Where do you take command of the fleet?" a lady friend asked Dewey just before he left for Manila.

"At Hongkong," he replied.

After a silence the lady said:

"Aren't you aggrieved, in view of our possible trouble with Spain, over being ordered to the remote Asiatic station, which can hardly be in the picture in case of war?"

"Sailor's luck," replied Dewey. "Moreover, I haven't entertained grivances for years."

And then he added, evidently as an afterthought, "Besides, you know, Spain owns the Philippines."

With Capt. Willard H. Brownson and Commander William H. Emory, Admiral Dewey shares the reputation of being one of the best dressed men in the navy. When Dewey was president of the naval inspection board, Brownson and Emory were members. The board was obliged to attend the final trial trips of all the new vessels. Dewey usually carried only a small satchel on these occasions, but Brownson and Emory were always provided with several suits of clothes. Dewey went to New London to witness the final trial of the Annapolis, reaching there in advance of some of the other members. He was sitting on the piazza of his hotel, on the evening of his arrival, when an express wagon loaded high with big trunks was driven up.

"Ah," said Dewey, with a smile, "I see that Brownson and Bill Emory have come."

Among the Recruits.

Lieut. Douglas Settle came up from Raleigh last night and spent today at the local recruiting station.

A telegram from the war department was received at the recruiting station last night to reassign the thirteen men, enlisted at Reidsville and Spray last week by Lieut. Johnson, from the 43d to the 41st regiment. They will be sent to Camp Meade Pa.

A message received from the war department states that the 38th regiment, at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., was filled Tuesday and the 46th was filled yesterday at Framingham, Mass.

Recruit Crafton, who was enlisted at Reidsville last week, was arrested last night for disorderly conduct and is now in limbo.

The Man Who Pleases.

The man who pleases people in the mercantile world nowadays is the man who cares enough for trade to work for it. The man who spends good money in big advertisements in the local papers is the man who appreciates your patronage enough to make a bid for it. The man who is that anxious to get you in his store is going to have things in apple pie order for you when you come.

In this connection it is a pleasure to call your attention to the large and handsome advertisement of Mr. S. J. Kaufmann, in this paper. His business is steadily growing and his excellent taste in selecting and handling goods and a judicious use of printer's ink is responsible for it.

Must Weigh All Mails.

In compliance with a recent order of the postoffice department, Postmaster Glenn is having all incoming and outgoing mails weighed. The order says that all the different classes of mails must be weighed separately; also all government free mail matter and all pouches, equipment and packages that are sent through the mail. Mr. Glenn says that the department issues an order like this to all postoffices in the Union about every four years. The instructions are that this must be done from October 3 to November 6

Statue to Edgar Allan Poe.

"The evil that men do live after them; the good is oft interred with their bones," is, unfortunately, more epigrammatic than true.

On Saturday next, the fiftieth anniversary of the death of Edgar Allan Poe, his statue by Zolnay will be unveiled at the University of Virginia. The alma mater, obliged for the protection of her other children to expel him in life, cherishes with pride the memory of the erratic genius doomed to so mournful an extinction.

The frailties and infirmities of the man are forgotten or forgiven—interred with his bones—while the good that he has done lives after him in the the fascination of his prose and the weird melody of his verse to charm unending generations.

Millions fall under the magic spell of "The Raven," knowing nothing of the turbulent life of their unhappy author, the victim of "that torture the worst—the terrible torture of thirst for the naphthaline river of passion accurst;" while more serious readers who learn of the scenes of that sad and turbulent life find in them a pathetic warning. In the words which Poe attributed to the echoes in the Coliseum:

Prophetic sounds and loud arise forever
From us and from all Ruin, unto the wise
As melody from Memnon to the sun.

THE CULMINATING EVENT

Of Dewey's Great Reception at Washington.

THE STATE DINNER AFFAIR.

Governor Russell Didn't Attend It—Few Southern Democratic Senators Were Present.

Special to The Telegram.

Washington, Oct. 6—Many of the state executives who were expected to attend the Dewey reception did not come to Washington, though nearly all of the governors were represented. Many of those who were in Washington did not attend the dinner at the White House, which was the culminating event of the great reception. Neither Governor McSweeny, of South Carolina, nor Governor Russell, of North Carolina, stopped over in Washington on their way South from New York, though it had been understood that both of these governors would be here. South Carolina, however, was represented at the State dinner in honor of the Admiral by Senator Benjamin Tillman. With the exception of the South Carolina senator, the Virginia senators and Senator Lindsay of Kentucky, not a southern Democratic senator was present at the President's banquet in honor of the Manila hero, nor with the exception of Governor Tyler, of Virginia, was a single southern state executive in attendance, though many of the senators and governors in the city from the south, in fact all of them, received invitations. There was one southern representative among the guests, Representative Livingston, of Georgia.

Several southern executives were in the city Monday night and Tuesday morning, among them being Governor Tyler of Virginia, Sayers of Texas, McMillan of Tennessee, and McLaurin of Mississippi, but most of the governors left the city on the first southern train soon after the close of the exercises at the capitol building, which accounts for their failure to accept the President's cordial invitation to attend the state dinner at the executive mansion. It was stated that both Governors McSweeny of South Carolina and Russell of North Carolina were prevented from attending the reception by pressure of state business which detained them at their respective capitals.

The crowds that came to Washington to attend the Dewey reception are leaving the city rapidly, and business has resumed its normal rut after the activity of the past few days, which was owing to the increased population of the national capital. Many people left the city immediately after the parade, taking the earliest train possible to their respective homes. The managers of the reception are much gratified at its success, which was complete in every particular. They were busy yesterday in settling up their accounts, and the headquarters were closed last night.

Admiral Dewey spent the day quietly yesterday, receiving a few callers. He is much tired out by the round of events during the past week, the receptions both here and at New York, having been quite a strain upon him. He has not definitely decided the length of his stay at Washington. President McKinley leaves for the west this week, and the admiral will probably leave the city about the same time.

Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, who came to Washington to attend the Dewey reception is much pleased with the political outlook in the state. He is satisfied with his senatorial prospects, and is confident of his return to the senate again for six years. The senator says that Governor McSweeny is very popular in the state, and it has been intimated that he would be a candidate for governor to succeed himself. The senator is a silver man, and believes that the South Carolina delegation will be for silver, and will favor the renomination of Col. William J Bryan, for president next year.

A number of southern Baptist ministers are in the city in attendance upon the Baptist Ministers' Union. Among them are Rev. Dr. Shelton Miller, who presides, and Rev. J. C McCoy, of Charleston, South Carolina, Rev. Dr E M. Brawley, of Darien, Georgia, and Rev. R. P. Dawson, of Middleburg, Virginia.

Major Edward McKissick, of Asheville, North Carolina, who is in the city, does no believe in Senator Butler's colonization plan as a remedy for the race question in the south. He says that the increase in the number of cotton mills in the south, which will enable the white people to secure remunerative employment, and allow the negro to till the soil, to which occupation he is fitted by nature, will solve the problem to a large degree.

R. L. Graham, of the Central Georgia Railroad, is in the city, attending the meeting of the Freight Claim Association. The meetings of the association are being held at the Shoreham hotel, but they are not open to the public.

The First National Bank of Buchanan, Virginia, according to the report of the comptroller of the currency, has gone into voluntary liquidation.

Messrs. C. C. Carlin and R. E. Knight, of Alexandia, Va., were in the city Tuesday to see Congressman Rixey, and the secretary of war about decorations for the sesqui-centennial at Alexandria.

The hearts of several of our gallant youths have been captivated by Kernersville young ladies and this will be a good time to talk over "your troubles."

"Meg's Diversion," an interesting and popular drama, will be presented by home talent in the public school building at Kernersville next Saturday night, Oct. 7.

To those who are in arrears for several months for their subscription to the Telegram we would be pleased for them to pay up when bills are presented. Each amount in itself is small, but taken altogether it foots up several dollars, which at the present time we need. Please bear this in mind.

And the next moment the clock stopped. Last night two fellows who seemed to be feeling good were strolling up and down the street. Just as they reached Dr. A. P. Staley's office one of them glanced at the large regulator and remarked: "Say, Bill, that 'ere thing up there will eben tell you when ye air going to die."

An employe of one of the factories here is in possession of an interesting as well as very old knife, which is over one hunnred years old. The knife has only one blade and its handles are of brass. It first belonged to his great grandfather, who handed it down to his son (the present owner's grandfather), who gave it to his boy (the present owner's father), who left it to his son, who is now the possessor. He says he expects to keep it and hand it down to his children. The knife is yet in a very good state of preservation.

Yesterday a man with an old, old flax wheel walked into H. A. Moffitt's N. Y. Cash Store. Said he: "Here is a wheel that a lady from Randolph county told me to leave here." A card was attached to it with the following inscription: "For Mrs. W. R. Lowdermilk." What does this signify? There is a Rev. W R. Lowdermilk residing here but he is unmarried at present. We suppose it was donated as a reminder, and when the Reverend finds his Cinderella, if ever, she can make it useful as well as ornamental. The wheel is of one of the oldest tyres and looks as if it had faithfully performed its duties—but for the last time.

THE FIGHT FOR CAPT. CARTER.

Remanded to Castle William to Await the Decision.

New York, Oct 4—Oberlin M. Carter, the former engineering captain, who is under sentence of five years' imprisonment after conviction on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government, was taken from Governor's Island to the United States Circuit Court today on a writ of habeas corpus in his behalf, obtained Monday. Judge Lacombe was on the bench. The army was represented at the hearing by John W. Clous, judge advocate general of the department of the East; Col. George B. Davis, of the judge advocate general's office, and Judge Burnett, United States district attorney.

Captain Carter was represented by Abram J. Rose and L. Laffin Kellogg. Mr. Rose, in opening for his client, said there was no contention that the court-martial which had tried the charges against Captain Carter had acted illegally in its findings on the charges. On the question of sentence, however, it was claimed that the court had acted in excess of its powers beyond jurisdiction and contrary to law.

Colonel Clous, in reply, held that action of a court-martial cannot be reviewed by any civil court. He added that the court-martial had power to fix the sentence, and that in the exercise of such power the court had power, under the first charge, to impose a fine upon Carter; under the second charge, to sentence him to imprisonment; under the third charge, to dismiss him from the army, and under the fourth charge, to impose a sentence of fine or imprisonment, or both.

Counsel submitted briefs. Judge Lacombe reserved decision on the writ and ordered Captain Carter back to the custody of Captain Roberts, of Governor's Island.

Still they come and still they go at a lively rate. We have just opened up another shipment of those popular black box calf, leather-lined $3.50 men's shoes, and another line, almost as good, in tan and black, at $3.00.

A NOBLE NORTH CAROLINIAN.

The city of Durham and the state of North Carolina feel very justly proud of Gen. Julian S. Carr. He is, without doubt, the state's best friend. Ever on the alert to do good, his generosity does not find an end in empty words of flowery praise for the people he loves so well, but his immense fortune and his valuable time listen for the call of assistance. The lucre-purse is the never-failing test of friendship, and from the ordeal General Carr emerges true as steel. The incident, which happened a few days since, of his handing the pastor of Trinity church, at Durham, a blank check and asking the embarassed but delighted preacher to fill it out for the amount of the church's indebtedness — which was $3,500 — is only characteristic of him, and is but a sample of his many benevolent acts. Unlike so many millionaires who squander their wealth in shameless frivolities and revelries, General Carr has no fears for the lurid handwriting on the wall. Wealth in his hands is not a curse, but a blessing to humanity, surrendered freely to the needs of religion and patriotism and sorrow and distress.

General Carr's latest noble act is his inducement to the study of North Carolina history by our people and to encourage us to make a home literature. He offers a prize of $100 for the best compend or epitome of any decade of our state's history within the period embraced between the years 1782 and 1882. Any North Carolinian is allowed to enter the contest, under the following conditions:

"No more than fifty will be allowed to enter, and these will be the first who apply.

"The sketches must not exceed 25 pages—400 words to the page. They should be written in a simple, direct and logical style, for style as well as facts will count in this contest—the purpose being to cultivate both a literary and historical spirit. The prize sketch and some of the best of the others may be published.

"In compliment to the efforts of the North Carolina Publishing Society, of Raleigh, N. C., in behalf of the history and literature of our state, General Carr has asked that the contest be conducted under their auspices, and that all communications on the subject be addressed to them.

"The following shall be a sufficient form of application to enter the contest:

"I, ..., of.....county of....., a resident of North Carolina, apply to enter the contest for the history prize offered by Gen. J. S. Carr. The decade I have chosen is that between ..... and ....., and I agree to diligently study it and submit a typewritten compend thereof, done to the best of my ability, and according to the rules and requirements of the contest."

The people of North Carolina have many sterling qualities. Their noble acts of self-sacrifice and perseverance and bravery in "times that tried men's souls" have never been surpassed in the history of the world. And, if the world is ever made to look on the Old North State with every cloud of prejudice brushed away, in the clear light of truth, having before its eyes the past glories of our history, the beautiful, pathetic fortitude of our sons and fathers when they laid down their laboring implements, from the pen to the plow-handle, and went forth to die in a larger proportion than fell to the lot of any other state in the American Union; if ever the glorious deeds of our dead and the grand principles that live today in the hearts of our people—the best, noblest type of people under the light of the sun—are known and read of all men, then we will have cause to thank General Julian S. Carr as we thank no other living man.

He fought on the field of battle till the old flag went down, returned home in poverty, went to work and created a fortune, and is still fighting for the same principle for which he battled in the Army of Northern Virginia—for home.

When he dies he will have a perpetual monument raised to his memory in the hearts of his people, and a monument second only to that of Vance's.

Why couldn't His Majesty Jack Frost go to Jacksonville and cope with that Jack down there instead of tarrying up in Stokes and other western counties, killing all the late tobacco?

Lumbermen of South Carolina and Florida, Tuesday, at Savannah, Ga., resolved to advance prices 50 cents to $1.50 per 1000 feet.

ONCE MORE THE DREYFUS CASE.

It Rests With the Captain and His Friends to Carry It Further.

Day by day it seems more probable that we shall hear more, and much more, of the Dreyfus case. Day by day, also, the Government has acted toward that case wisely and for the best. And both these things are so, despite the fact that the war minister has declared the incident to be closed, we might also say, because he has done so. A few criticisms were passed here and there upon the Marquis de Galliffet for making that declaration, and for causing or persuading Capt. Dreyfus to withdraw his appeal for revision of the Rennes verdict. It seemed to be supposed that the Marquis had thus forever debarred Capt. Dreyfus from legal vindication. Both these criticisms were ill advised, and that supposition was erroneous. The minister of war spoke, of course, only so far as the army was concerned, and got Capt. Dreyfus to withdraw his appeal to the Military Court of Revision, and that alone. And that was for the best interests of Capt. Dreyfus himself. For the only possible action the army or the war department could take in his behalf was to grant his plea for revision. But that could not have reversed the verdict nor have quashed it. The Military Court of Revision had no power to do that. It could merely have ordered the amendment of some details of procedure, and nothing more. The verdict at Rennes would have remained untouched.

But in sweeping away that futile appeal to an impotent tribunal and in declaring the case closed so far as the army is concerned, the Marquis de Galliffet has not obstructed the way to a re-opening of the case before those civil authorities which happily in time of peace are still superior to the military power. There is now no bar, legal or moral, against an appeal to the Court of Cessation, if, as seems to be expected, important new evidence tending to prove Capt. Dreyfus' innocence can be produced. If that is forthcoming, the Court of Cessation will be competent to review the case just as it did the case of 1894, and it will be competent to quash the Rennes verdict of 1899 just as it did the verdict of 1894. It would, of course, have to remit the case to another court-martial. But we may assume from the Marquis de Galliffett's declaration that such a court would not be constituted, and Capt. Dreyfus would thus be acquitted through a sort of nolle prosequi. That course would be pursued by the army, because the court-martial, if it were called, could not under the law condemn a pardoned man, but would have to acquit him.

It thus seems to rest entirely with Capt. Dreyfus and his friends to decide whether or not the case shall be carried further. They may prefer to let the matter drop, and be content with the moral vindication and victory which they have so amply won. If so, the chief loser will be the French government, which will be left with something worse than Damocles' sword hanging above it, in the shape of the revelation which the German government is believed to have it in its power to make. If, on the other hand, they decide to exercise their legal rights and to fight the case to the end, the road is open for them to do so, with a prospect of complete legal, as well as moral, victory.—New York Tribune.

A Tar Heel Wanderer's Love.

Good Old North State, Carolina, I hear the bugle-horn,
And o'er your fields of cotton and down on your lanes of corn,
The spirits of your children, whose bodies lie elsewhere,
Sing softly o'er the morning, "Carolina, mother, fair."

Good Old North State, Carolina, again I hear the horn,
O'er the snowy dreams of cotton, thro' the fragrance of the corn,
And the spirits of your children, whose bodies share your care,
Sing softly o'er the morning, "She's, indeed, a mother fair."

Good Old North State, Carolina, once more I hear the horn
O'er the wondrous white of cotton and the flaming golds of corn;
I hear your living children tell your children in the air,
Singing softly o'er the morning, "She's a mother true and rare."

Good Old North State, Carolina, where I, thank God! was born,
Where pickers pick the cotton and the shuckers shuck the corn,
If elsewhere I should perish, from pilgrim's weary toil,
Sing softly o'er the morning, "Fetch him to mother-soil."

Good Old North State, Carolina, where buzzing's in the morn
Of gins a-ginning cotton and of mills a-milling corn,
Sing, Mother-State, when I'm asleep, "I've put my son to bed,"
Then,—softly o'er the morning,—"beside Carolina's dead."

INCOME OF $10 65 A MINUTE.

While Vanderbilt Slept at Night He Got About $4,474 Richer.

Great interest continues to be taken here in the distribution which the will of Cornelius Vanderbilt, when probated, will be found to make of his great fortune, estimated at $150,000,000.

Young Cornelius, eldest son of the the dead millionaire, is believed by Wall street men to have the best prospects of getting the largest share of this immense sum. It is pointed out that in the last few years he has shown steadiness and business capacity which might overbalance his fathers strenuous but ineffective objections to his marriage with Miss Grace Wilson.

The will was read to the family tonight. Members of the family and Henry B. Anderson, who was Mr. Vanderbilt's lawyer, were the only persons present. It was stated that nothing bearing on the contents of the will will be made puplic until it has been offered for probate.

The income which the elder Cornelius enjoyed during his life was one of the largest in the country. Of his estimated wealth of $150,000,000, it is said in Wall street about $10,000,000 was in unproductive assets. It was also said that the average income of the remainder was between 4 and 5 per cent.

Calculating an income of 4 per cent on $140,000,000, it would amount to $5,600,000 a year or $15,342 47 a day. Perhaps a man having this income would be willing to drop the 47 cents Dividing the even sum of $15,342 by 1,440, the number of minutes in a day, gives an income of about $10.65 a minute. This would amount to a little less than 18 cents a second. Thousands of persons are glad to work an hour for 18 cents.

Now suppose that Mr. Vanderbilt slept seven hours a night—that was said to have been his average. While he was thus in bed, in dreaming unconsciousness, his income would have amounted to $4,474 75 Not evrry man can go to bed and wake in the morning $4,474.75 cents richer.

The only member of the Vanderbilt family not now in New York is Alfred, son of the dead finance king, who was located yesterday in the interior of Japan. He has been traveling. Word of his father's death was sent him on Tuesday, and yesterday afternoon a cable message was received from him. stating that he would start for America at once.

The finding of young Vanderbilt was a task that engaged the attention of many men in Japan and China. Hundreds of dollars were spent in cabling instructions. Mercantile agents and consuls were asked to find him, and from a dozen places messengers were sent into the interior of Japan.

In forwarding the messages to him and hurrying his reply, the cable companies informed the family that the messages would be pushed through ahead of all except government business, and that where consent could be obtained the messages would take precedence even over those of the government. It was said that it was less than one hour and thirty minutes from the time the message was filed in Japan that the family received it. The message came by way of Hong Kong, Singapore, Bombey, Aden, Suez, Malta, Gibraltar, Lisbon and London.—New York Dispatch to Baltimore Sun.

Silver for the South.

Washington, Oct. 4—Assistant Secretary Venderlip stated today that steps had been taken by which the scarcity of silver in the south will be relieved. In all, $200,000 is available and could be sent at once; but he desired, he said, that all New Orleans banks should act in harmony. Unless they do, it is stated, Secretary Gage is not disposed to select any one bank to which to send silver.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. 'Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store. Regular size 50c and $1. Guaranteed or price refunded.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

A woman can hide a secret just about as well as a sandwich-sign man can conceal his business.

Woman's real greatness consists in being able to cry over the little disappointments of life and laugh at the big ones.

There probably never was a woman that weighed over 100 that didn't just love to sit on her husband's lap.

If a woman could have all the new clothes she wanted and wasn't allowed to keep any old ones she would be perfectly miserable every day she stayed home.—New York Press.

The divorce evil seems to grow with every year. 7,500 divorces were granted in the State of Ohio last year. We agree that there are faults on both sides, but the great problem is: Are those faults remediable? To a great extent there is no doubt the conditions which result in divorce may be remedied. Given a dyspeptic husband and a wife suffering from female trouble and we have the ready made elements of a divorce case. In view of the facts there can be very little doubt that many women look forward to divorce only because they seek relief from obligations they do not feel fitted to fulfill. Women are not to blame. They have looked forward to their home life as a dream of paradise. Then disease comes like a serpent and destroys all happiness.

Women who suffer with debilitating drains, inflammation, ulceration, female trouble and bearing down pains, will find certain relief and cure in Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It so invigorates the organs peculiarly feminine and regulates their functions that they are established in a perfectly healthy condition. The old lightness of heart comes back; there's light in the eyes and a smile on the lips. The old irritation and nervousness are gone, and the husband comes to his home as a haven of rest and comfort.

"I was troubled with female weakness, and after taking three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I am free from pains," writes Mrs. May E. Jones, 529 Madison Ave., Ypsilanti, Mich. "I had suffered for two years when I began taking your medicine. I could not walk across my room without suffering dreadful pains. Now I do all my housework and walk where I please—thanks to Dr. Pierce's medicine."

Paroxysms of Pith.

The cashier's job is a paying one.

A clerical error—a prolonged, prosy sermon.

It's all up with the individual who gets seasick.

Chesnuts are making their appearance—quite a number of minstrel shows are on the road already.

The chap who is always howling that he has a right to his opinions is just the one who wants everybody else to take them.

"I'm forced to admit," remarked the shoplifter as he was detected in the act of stealing a mirror, "that I've taken a glass too much."

Slobbs—"Did her father appear sorry that he had to turn you down?" Blobbs—"Well, he felt for me." "So?" "Yes, with his foot, and he reached me, too."

"You can't always judge by appearances," says the Manayunk Philosopher. "It sometimes happens that the man with duck trousers and peaked cap really owns a yacht."

"Now, that you've had a good meal," remarked the kind old lady, "I want to see you go down to the woodsheed and extend yourself." "I'll be glad ter," responded the tourist, "I wuz jest about to ask if dere wuz any place where I could stretch out fer awhile."

"Briggs is a good talker, but what a queer little circular gesture he has! It's just as if he was stirring a witches' caldron." "Yes. He got that gesture making home-made ice cream in an old-fashioned freezer."

James Reed Injured.

Mr. James Reed struck his leg against a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physician, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whiskey in bathing it, but nothing gave it any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Mr. Reed is one of the leading merchants of Clay Court House, W. Va. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

New York, Oct. 2—Captain Carter remained today in the cell which he has occupied since Saturday in Castle William on Governor's Island. Mrs. Robert D. Westcott, his sister-in-law, and her daughter went to Governor's Island and saw him today in his cell.

It was said yesterday that Carter would probably not wear distinctive army prisoner's garments until he reaches Fort Leavenworth.

Passing of the Horse.

Within the last nine years 16,000 horses have been mustered out of service by the Metropolitan Traction and Third Avenue companies, and in their places electricity has been substituted as a motive power. There remain today 5,100 horses in harness on the street car lines of the city, and that number will be diminished by several hundred before the year is out. Five years hence, the officials of the Metropolitan road say, the horse will be a thing of the past as motive power on the streets of New York.—New York Post.

Testifies to the Good Qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

On the 10th of December, 1897, Rev. S. A. Donahoe, pastor M. E. Church, South, Point Pleasant, W. Va., contracted a severe cold, which was attended from the beginning by violent coughing. I most cheerfully recommend it to the public." For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

"I wish to express my thanks to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy for having put on the market such a wonderful medicine," says W. W. Massingill, of Beaumont, Tex. There are many thousands of mothers whose children have been saved from attacks of dysentary and cholera infantum who must also feel thankful. It is for sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

Tomorrow night at the Banner Warehouse band concert and oyster supper.

Rees & Bond, the sign painters, call your attention to a novelty in oilcloth signs. See their ad.

Don't forget the band concert and oyster supper tomorrow night at the Banner Warehouse.

Mrs. Bream, an old lady of Proximity, died of dropsy early this morning. The funeral will be held late this afternoon.

The train from the east came in last night in two sections, each being loaded with young ladies for the Normal College.

J. B. Taylor, of Guilford College, returned this morning from Ohio, where he went to attend the funeral of his brother.

Rev. Jas. R. Jones, of Guilford College, is doing evangelistic work for the Friends church in the mountains of North Carolina.

Bishop Cheshire will be at St. Barnabas church Sunday morning and not as previously published on Wednesday. Horace Weeks Jones. 2t

Mr. S. J. Pegram, a former resident of this city but now of Asheville, is to be married on the 18th to Miss Minnie Lusk, daughter of Col. Virgil S. Lusk.

Protracted services will begin at the First Presbyterian church on the first Sunday in November. Dr. S. M. Smith, of Columbia, S. C., will assist the pastor.

Chief of Police Scott has in his possession an umbrella which was left in the postoffice. The owner can get the same by calling on the chief and identifying the same.

Alma Jacobs, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. T L. Jacobs, died last night at the home of its parents near the finishing mills. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

Ida Cecil and Lena Scott, colored, were up before Mayor Taylor yesterday evening on the charge of scrapping. The former contributed $5 00 to the city treasury and the latter $2.00.

Whether you want to buy a lot or not just go out and take a look at those beautiful shaded lots opposite the Normal College, to be sold by Jordan and McDonald next Tuesday afternoon.

The protracted services at West Market street church are being attended by good crowds and Dr. Rowe is preaching some able and helpful sermons. Services each night at 8 o'clock. Attend tonight; it will do you good.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Davis, of Durham, were at the McAdoo last night. They left at noon today for a bridal trip to northern cities. They were married in Durham yesterday morning. The bride was Mrs. Green, widow of Mr. Lucius Green.

Rev. C. A. G. Thomas, who was formerly the popular pastor of Washington street Baptist church, but who has been in Fayetteville for several years, has resigned his pastorate at that place. His plans for the future have not yet been decided upon.

Misses Lucy Lyon and Claude Bass, charming and beautiful young ladies, the former of Danville and the latter of Rocky Mount, left at noon for Miss Lyon's home. They visited Mrs. J. N. Longest, on Blandwood avenue, while here.

H. J. Blauvelt, of Winston, was here today on his return home from from Reidsville. Mr. Blauvelt has designed and planned for a beautiful colonial mansion for R. P Richardson, Jr., of Reidsville. The mansion will be a very costly one, and will be built of brick and stone in strictly colonial style, with hardwood finish of cabinet design.

LOST HIS GRIP.

But Officer Jordan Found It for Him.

There is undoubtedly some fellow in this city who makes it a point to loaf around the depot and "swipe" grips. R L. Prevo was here last night enroute to Winston, and having a few minutes to spare he put his grip in the Winston train and came out to see the fast mail pass Two lady passengers said they saw two negroes enter the rear end of the car. Mr. Prevo reported his loss to Officer Jordan, who began searching for the thief. The officer saw two men hurrying away from the train and followed them, but did not get near enough to recognize them, for when they espied Mr. Jordan they dropped the grip and fled. The thieves did not open the grip, which contained clothing and some machinist's tools.

Mr. Will Weill, a traveling salesman from Charlotte, had a somewhat similar experience at noon yesterday, though he has not recovered his dress-suit case, which contained his mileage book and some furnishings.

Since writing the above we learn that the mileage book and furnishings belonging to Mr. Weill were found by some children in front of Mr. Weaver's on Walker avenue. They were turned over to the police. It seems that the thief did not want the contents, but just an empty grip. Perhaps he contemplates taking a trip. Let us hope so.

Died Suddenly.

A message was received here yesterday morning announcing the sudden death early yesterday morning of Mr. Burns, father-in-law of John C. Curtis, the man who was killed on the train near Germanton last week. Mrs. Burns has been visiting her daughter on Arlington street since the latter's husband was killed. Mrs. Burns left yesterday for Sanford and Mrs. Curtis left at noon today.

Men's Viscol Calf, British cap, calf-lined, triple-soled tan shoes, at $3 50, are excelled by none and equalled by few. We would like to show you a pair of these and leave it to your own judgment to say if they are not as good as the shoes you see elsewhere priced four and sometimes five dollars a pair.

Thacker & Brockmann.

BENBOW SOLD.

Mr. B. H. Merrimon Becomes the Owner of the Hotel Property.

The Benbow has been sold!

This news was rumored on the streets this morning and on enquiry the rumor was found to be true. The Telegram takes pleasure in announcing this good news to our readers today.

A few days ago the Benbow hotel property was placed in the hands of Wharton & McAlister, agents for the Southern Loan & Trust Company, and advertised by them for sale, and as a result these gentlemen closed the deal last night with Mr. B. H. Merrimon, one of Greensboro's reliable and progressive citizens.

The property was sold for $30,000, and Mr. Merrimon will rebuild the hotel at once, work to begin within the next few days.

The property is valuable and the building when completed will be a beautiful one. It will probably be larger than the one burned last June.

The deed will be sent to Washington tonight to be signed by Capt. Fisher, who is visiting in than city. Upon the return of the deed the property will become Mr. Merrimon's.

Mr. Wharton informs us that this is a bona fide sale, and that there is not a doubt but that the hotel will be rebuilt immediately.

Mr. B. H. Merrimon was seen this afternoon, and in response to an enquiry, said:

"Yes, I have bought the Benbow Hotel property, and since buying have formed a stock company composed of Mrs. Nellie S. Merrimon, E. P. Wharton and myself, with a capital stock of $80,000. We will begin work on the hotel Monday morning and employ all the hands possible till the building is completed. The hotel will be larger than the old Benbow."

Moved Today.

The handsome new office building of the Southern Loan & Trust Company is now receiving the finishing touches and the firm of Wharton & McAllister moved into their elegant offices on first floor today. The electric lights were turned on last night and quite a number of citizens called and inspected the building and its offices, which will be ready for occupancy in a few days Dr. Burbank is fitting up beautiful offices on third floor. Several of the offices have already been rented and it is safe to say the building will be filled within a few weeks.

Federal Court.

The mill of justice continues to grind at the county court, and blockaders and other violators of the internal revenue laws are being arraigned for trial before Judge Ewart in the federal court. There are more acquittals than convictions. Already more than twenty-five cases have been disposed of, but most of the cases are for retailing and other minor minor offences, and business is dispatched with a rush by Judge Ewart, who is not wasting any time. A large number of civil suits will come up at this term.

Jail Delivery.

Seven dogs broke jail this morning shortly after breakfast time. They were the tagless dogs caught by the police force and were confined in a pen back of the market house Chief Scott says they made their escape by scratching a hole under the fence. None of them have been recaptured, though the police are on the lookout for them.

PRELIMINARY HEARING

Of Ben Wilkerson, Who Shot Ben Jennings Last Friday Night.

Ben Wilkerson, who on last Friday night shot Ben Jennings, was given a preliminary hearing at 2 o'clock this afternoon, in 'Squire Pritchett's office. The case was to have been heard before 'Squire Pritchett, but on motion of defendant, 'Squire Eckel was called in and heard the case. G. Sam Bradshaw appeared for the state and W. P. Bynum, Jr., and S. B. Adams represented the defendant.

The first witness put on the stand was Henry Heath, an eye witness to the shooting, whose evidence was about the same as the statement he made on Saturday. There are several witnesses on each side, but Heath is the most important one. Dr. Turner was put on the stand and explained the condition of the wounded man. None of the other witnesses for the state were examined, and the defence did not offer any testimony.

Mr. Bynum opened the argument. He was followed by Mr. Bradshaw, for the state. Mr. Adams, for the defense, closed the argument and 'Squire Eckel bound Wilkerson over to the superior court in a justified bond of $500.00, which Wilkerson says he can give.

WOUNDED MAN IMPROVING.

Dr. Turner visited Jennings, the wounded man, this morning and reports his condition some better, but says that he is not yet out of danger.

Breezy Brevities.

Men are generally taken aback by an affront.

Woman's gentle touch just now is for a fall bonnet.

It is probably because truth is naked that she so seldom appears in public life.

"I ain't no bargain store," remarked the bad boy emerging from the pantry, "but there's a perfect jam inside me."

"If some men who want the earth should get it," says the Manayunk Philosopher, "they'd be too mean to pay the taxes."

Nell—"Goldie Lockes is just dying to catch that rich young man." Belle—"That's literally true. She has heard he prefers brunettes."

Hoax—"The Shamrock was leading though at the finish." Joax—"Sure; it was a slow race. England's always ahead of us in slowness."

"How I love the little birds," she gushed. "Don't you?" "Well," said he, "I certainly hate the big ones." "Indeed?" "Yes; they obstruct my view of the stage."

"You should call that the 'Shakesperian cut,'" remarked the victim, surveying himself in the glass. "Why?" asked the barber. "Because it's the most unkindest cut of all."

Magistrate—"What you got to say fur yerself?" Prisoner—"Well, as Othello said——" Magistrate—"Never mind what O'Theller said, he'll testify fur himself when his time comes.!"
